The Dahlia Farm

"On The Sunrise Trail"

W. L. W. Barnell

EAST MORICHES - LONG ISLAND - NEW YORK
This brochure is a supplement to our 1922 catalogue, and to be used therewith. These pages record all price changes for 1923, and never varieties we are offering our customers this coming season, with the assurance that in our gardens they were good.

TO THE FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS

whom we may have disappointed by not filling order entire

AN APOLOGY

Early in the year a fire started in our cutting room while our men were busy preparing stock for shipment, and we lost barn, office, packing room, live stock and many thousand tubers. This unfortunate occurrence caused us endless annoyance and labor, and a lot of money, and we trust our pains were not in vain, and that but few of our friends suffered with us.

INFORMATION

PLEASE READ BEFORE ORDERING

To those who are unacquainted with the different classes and varieties of Dahlias I would suggest that such leave the selection to me. Send me the amount of money you wish to invest and in return I will send you those that will surely delight. Also my liberal filling of the order will be more than satisfactory.

ORDER EARLY—As orders are filled in rotation—with field grown roots only—ordering early will insure the reservation of varieties that later may be sold out.

SUBSTITUTION—Orders are filled with varieties called for, and, unless substitution is asked, I never substitute.

TERMS—Cash with order, or in advance of shipment; no C. O. D. orders accepted, unless at least 20% of amount is sent with order. Postage prepaid on all retail orders when payment is made, at time of ordering.

GUARANTEE—I guarantee safe arrival of all bulbs. Do not plant tubers immediately on receipt of same. Put in warm, sunny position, cover lightly with damp sand, and when sprout or eye makes positive growth, plant where desired. If, for any reason, tubers fail to grow, they can be returned at once, without labor or loss of time, with tag attached, and I will immediately send a perfect tuber to replace each one returned.

REMITTANCES should be made by bank draft, post office money order or registered letter. POST OFFICE MONEY ORDERS MUST BE MADE PAYABLE AT EAST MORICHES, N. Y. Postage stamps accepted up to $2.00. Coin should not be sent by letter unless registered.

ERRORS—While my system for handling orders is as near perfect as possible, yet in the rush of business errors are possible to occur, and I wish to be promptly notified of such and will at once make same satisfactory. Keep copy of your order for comparison.

—1923—
PLANTING

THE TIME—May first to August first.
THE PLACE—In the open air and sunshine, away from shrubs, trees and shading places.
HOW—In hills or drills, six inches deep, three or four feet apart each way.

FERTILIZING WHEN PLANTING FEEDS THE BUSH.

When planting, lay tubers on side with sprout pointing upward, then cover lightly with soil, and as plant develops keep drawing in the earth till ground is levelled.

STAKING

For specimen plants staking is advocated. When planting tubers drive stake beside tuber before covering, and when plant reaches a height of two feet, secure it to the stake, repeating operation when plants make fuller growth. This will keep the stalk from being broken by the wind and assure perfect protection.

HARD WOODED PLANTS

If tubers are planted early in rich soil, forcing quick growth, and the season is hot and dry, there is cause for much disappointment to the beginner. Hardened wood results, few blooms and imperfect flowers. If this is your case, be not dismayed. Cut the plant back to the ground—if the idea scares you, try two-thirds—and the new soft growth will soon burst into beauty with perfect flowers. Feed them a little, ease them of their load by disbudding, and watch the plant respond.

HOW TO KEEP CUT BLOOMS OF DAHLIAS

Freshly cut flowers will keep considerably longer, and wilted flowers, if not in too serious condition, will be entirely restored in appearance, if the following suggestions are followed: Cut blossoms in early part of the day, whenever possible. Fill receptacle with water, as hot as can be borne by one’s hand. Plunge the stems, but not the foliage, almost their entire length into the water; let them remain in the water until it cools, then transfer into cold water as in usual manner, with the addition of a quarter teaspoonful of salt to a quart of water. If the stems are particularly hard and wiry, water near boiling point may be used to good advantage. My suggestion would be try it and be convinced, regulating depth of water to length of stems.

DIGGING FOR WINTER

As soon as the frost cuts the tops of the dahlias, the sap recedes into the roots. Then is the best time to dig. Cut the stalks back to within three inches of the crown. In digging use a spade, and dig wide of the plant, say fifteen inches, to avoid cutting the tubers. By digging wide you take no risks. A clear, sunny day is ideal for digging dahlias, and when you have lifted the clumps allow them to stand in the sun for three hours to dry, when the tubers are ready for their permanent storing place.

STORING

The best place to store dahlias is a good, cool cellar, such as will keep potatoes well, where the temperature remains fairly constant at forty to forty-five degrees, and the air is neither too damp nor too dry. Cellars with heaters and cement floors are usually too dry and the roots shrivel up. This may be prevented by lining barrels or boxes with a good, heavy thickness of paper and thus excluding the drying air.

Pack the clumps one on top of the other, each clump upside down for drainage. In the stem of the dahlia is a strong, acrid juice, which if allowed to settle back into the crown may cause the clump to rot. Turning upside down allows this juice to drain out.

If temperature and moisture conditions are right, your roots will need no further attention until spring.

DIVISION OF CLUMPS

About a week before planting time bring the clumps into warmth and sunlight, cover lightly with moist earth, and when sprouts show, cut to single tubers with the portion of necks showing sprout. Never plant a whole clump; the results will spell failure. Each tuber with its neck and piece of crown containing at least one eye will give the best and strongest plant possible. The size of a tuber has very little to do with the results; small tubers are as good as large ones, and better; some of the finest varieties have very small tubers.

For the Guidance of the many visitors to our gardens who contemplate ordering from the notes made regarding many of our uncatalogued varieties, we print the following list of dahlias, each of which is sold to 1923 limit, making it impossible for us to take additional orders for them till next autumn:

Newer Varieties We Can Recommend for Eastern Gardens

The method employed on The Dahlia Farm in trying out all varieties is the best we have found yet, and the one on which we base our opinion. Every Dahlia we grow must make good under similar conditions, ordinary field culture, sans stakes, sans fertilizer, sans irrigation. If they fail to produce good, marketable flowers under these conditions, subject to two-horse cultivation—as hand hoeing is taboo—they are "small potatoes" in our opinion. Though we grow a few of each of the big priced varieties in special plots, judgment is based entirely on how they act in the field, and many fine Dahlias fail there.

AIBONITA, an immense flower of lavender pink shading to white. Of great depth on long, medium stiff stems ........................................ 8.25
ALASKA, cream white, good stems ..................... 75
AMUN RA, a flower worthy of its name, "The Sun God." The finest all-round dahlia California has produced. Copper and burnt orange, deepening in center to reddish brown, the immense flowers are borne on wonderful stems above a plant in vigor second to none. As a cut flower it is perfection, and unlike many Californian varieties is wonderfully floriferous in the East ........................................ 7.50
AGNES BOSTON, a large peony of royal purple shaded white ..................................................... 2.50
BLOSSOM, immense peony of white shaded with pink at base of petals. Good exhibition flower ....... 1.50
BYRON, Dec. Deep wine. Large and great depth ... 75
DELIA V. POTTER, Dec. Lavender, sometimes tipped white. Fine garden or exhibition variety........... 1.00
GLORIEUX, Dec. A novelty of yellow deepening to gamboge in center, sometimes tipped white. Stems good. ......................................................... 3.00
HOWITZER, peony. Yellow, striped and splashed scarlet. A gorgeous garden and exhibition variety 1.50
LADY BETTY, Dec. Creamy white suffused pink. Good stems ..................................................... 3.00
LIBERTY BOND, Dec. A very large autumn shaded flower on good stems. ..................................... 3.00
MINAMOTO, H. Cac. Soft scarlet of great size and depth ............................................................. 1.50
MRS. ETHEL F. T. SMITH, H. Cac. Creamy white shading to lemon. One of the largest flowers in our gardens. Good stems ........................................ 3.00
MT. SHASTA, H. Cac. Very light pink tinged yellow 1.50
PAUL MICHAEL, Dec. A giant of apricot shaded bronze. A very fine dahlia with good stems ......... 3.50
QUEEN JOSEPHINE, Dec. Royal purple suffused white, with two white veins through each petal. A good cut flower on fine stem .................. 2.00
PEARL RUGGLES, Peo. Carmine rose suffused pink at tips, white at base of petals. Good stems ...... 2.00
ROOKWOOD, Dec. Very large flower of cerise rose on splendid stem. A very fine dahlia ............... 7.50
SHADOW'S LAVENDER, Dec. An exquisite lavender flower of large size, carried on stiff stem well above a beautiful foliage ........................................... 7.50
U. S. A., Dec. Vivid orange. A mammoth flower of unique formation on good stem .................. 5.00
VENUS, Dec. Another of Judge Marean's lovely creations. Cream white suffused lavender .......... 3.00

After a season at the shows, and many visits to professional and amateur dahlia gardens, I am convinced that the outstanding dahlias for the year held their place, and were more generally grown for exhibition, for two reasons, the demand for size, and the power of printer's ink. When the show germ gets working, the victim to "exhibiphobia" develops astigmatism when viewing any variety of dahlia that has not been advertised as a "Twelve Inch Look." What matters it to him that the plant blooms but one or two flowers per season, or that another in the limbo of "mere garden varieties" yields a harvest of several dozen. For a few perfect flowers at the psychological show moment is more than acres of garden glory.

I have been asked to give my opinion on the best Dahlias of the year, and as an opinion is never more than an opinion, founded on individual liking multiplied by self interest, I give it knowing I give little of value. I limit my choice to three: INSULINDA, AMUN RA—the best dahlia, all round, that ever came out of California—and CAMBRIA—Dutch, American and English.

The lateness of the A. D. S. show handicaps many exhibitors, as the desire for good, strong tubers means not too late planting, and continued blooming gradually reduces the handicap by using late green plants, forced to their utmost, timed to bring their blooms to perfection at the time of need, but the general showing is affected, and many of the earlier Dahlia Shows outclass the classic in glory and size of flower. I attended many where competitors outside the ribbons could have won in New York, and for flowers, par excellence, the Dahlia Exhibition in conjunction with the Suffolk County Fair had no peer. The big class, best 100 varieties, had more entries and for superior blooms than the New York Show, and though I won, the class was close, very close, all the way.

At East Hampton, where I won 3 firsts and a second on four entries, the flowers staged were wonderful, and I needed the best flowers I had ever grown to win. The entries of the members of the Garden Clubs of The Hamptons astonished me and I have seen few better flowers anywhere. I saw INSULINDA there as it should be, and, by the way, THIS DAHLIA IS MY FIRST CHOICE FOR 1922. I achieved the honor of Best Flower with a bloom of AMUN RA, a gloriously perfect flower, and THIS VARIETY IS MY SECOND CHOICE, WITH CAMBRIA THIRD. To prove size was not everything, I won Best Pink with DOROTHY DURBAUGH in a class of eleven (11).

In the 25 varieties that won me the big prize, the judges made special mention of Cambria, Martha (the winner of the blue for best yellow at the New York Show), Red Cross, Flanders Fields, Jeanette Selinger, Edith Cavell, Captain John—a Howell seedling that caused a great deal of praise when grown at Bronx Park—and Dagmar, an immense yellow. The rest of the 25, all marvellous in size and color, were Pride of Portland, Valiant, Mona Darnell, F. W. Fellows, Rosa Nell, Arctic, Lady Helen, R. O. Fletcher, Shadow's Lavender, Jersey's Pride, Melvin Paliser, Mrs. J. P. Smith, King of Shows, Mephistopheles, Calif, Mrs. Ethel F. T. Smith, and Zylpha.

The most impressive thing at this show was the number of Dutch and English varieties in evidence, for though a few Californians were seen—I admired fine blooms of Mrs. Edna Spencer, Dr. Tevis, La Favorita, Mrs. Carl Salbach, Ambassador and Ysleta—the predominating varieties were originated beyond the Atlantic. Latona, King of the Autumn (wonderfully well grown), Edith Cavell, Calif, Purity, Valiant, Creation, Frau G. Scheff, Jekker Boreel and Dream ran off with most of the prizes, and the growing and showing both were exceptionally fine.

At the New England shows, Eastern varieties are the stars; in New Jersey, Californian, but Eastern Long Island is not so avid for size, preferring perfection of flower, and blooms, blooms, BLOOMS!
